

ABSTRACT

A method of automatic supply ordering system for electronically ordering a consumable part or replaceable part in a marking machine. The system provides electronic identification of a condition of a 5 replaceable component and automatically electronically sends an offer to purchase a replacement part upon identification of a threshold condition.

PCT/US2010/035010